

SCUDDER-BOSHER WEDDING TAKES 'EUGENICS' FORM

Specialty-Prepared Ceremonial Joins C. U. Pastor and Former Kawaiahao Principal

Carrying out their belief in eugenics as relating to entrance into the marriage state, Dr. Doremus Scudder, pastor of Central Union church, and Miss Mabel E. Bosher, former principal of Kawaiahao Seminary, were wedded last night at Atherton Hall, Kawaiahao, Manoa, by Rev. John L. Scudder of Los Angeles, brother of the groom.

The marriage service, arranged by the couple a few days before their marriage and printed on a simply decorated card, attested that before marriage they had been physically examined by a duly licensed physician and pronounced physically fit to be joined in wedlock. The marriage service, while in many respects resembling the usual forms which Dr. Scudder and most other Protestant clergymen use in ceremonies in Hawaii, in detail was written especially for this wedding. There is no behest for the bride to "love, honor and obey," nor is there any statement by the officiating minister that if there is a person present who wishes to protest against the marriage being consummated, he should "speak now or forever hold his peace."

Carry Out Principles.
Speaking of the ceremony a few days ago, Dr. Scudder said:

"Inasmuch as I have repeatedly urged eugenic legislation for Hawaii, and personally believe in certain features usually known as 'eugenic provisions,' and inasmuch as Miss Bosher agrees with me and we both wish to carry out at our own wedding the principles for which we stand, a special form of ceremony has been arranged."

"I have always urged that certificates of physical fitness should be required before men and women can be joined in marriage in Hawaii. Consequently, we have both been examined by a licensed physician and the certificates have been submitted to the presiding minister."

At the beginning of the ceremony, Rev. J. L. Scudder said, using the special form prepared by the bride and groom:

"Dear loved ones, we are gathered together here in the sight of God and in the presence of this company to solemnize the entrance of this man and this woman into the holy estate of marriage, which is ordained by our Heavenly Father to lead His children into the mystery of His eternal love and to give them a foretaste of the joy, which also is the fountain of the Christian family, the bulwark of the free state and the hope of the benighted and unenlightened world. To be entered into unadvisedly, lightly but reverently, in the love of God and with self-interest, the welfare of the human race, this supreme relationship is to be made one these two persons present who have given each other their hearts and souls to be joined together in the holy estate of marriage, which is ordained by our Heavenly Father to lead His children into the mystery of His eternal love and to give them a foretaste of the joy, which also is the fountain of the Christian family, the bulwark of the free state and the hope of the benighted and unenlightened world."

Form of Vows.
The ceremonial vows were then exchanged as follows:

Dr. Doremus, give myself to thee, to be thy husband. With the help of God I will to love thee evermore and to keep faith and truth with thee in all things that together we age of attendance, but as to personnel. Maj. Broadbent's battalion has been drilling a comparatively short time, but has made great progress. There is little doubt that an entire regiment could be organized on Kauai as soon as equipment is available.

Col. Lincoln made the annual inspection on Kauai for the war department, and will report the result of the trip to Washington. The inspection took place at the home stations of the several companies.

Today on the steamer Maui, Gen. Johnson and Col. Lincoln arrived here five hours late after an extremely rough trip.

At the Fairview hotel at Lihue Monday night the officers of the Guard on Kauai were hosts to Gen. Johnson and Col. Lincoln at a dinner at which many of the prominent men on the island were guests. Great enthusiasm was displayed for the National Guard at the dinner.

Many Armories Donated.

Every company on Kauai has been provided with, or is to be provided with a permanent home, armories having been donated by the following men: Col. Spaulding, at Kailua, for Company D; Paul Isenberg, at Lihue, for Companies A and B; Frank Alexander, Company C at Elelee, and Ben Baldwin at Makaweli, Company E.

With good places to store their equipment, meet and drill, the companies on Kauai will have a splendid start.

First steps toward the formation of a hospital detachment on Kauai have been taken. Maj. Putman, senior medical officer, being much interested in the organization of the corps.

may the better love and serve our Heavenly Father and our fellow men."

"I, Mabel, give myself to thee, Doremus, to be thy wife. With the help of God I will to love thee evermore and to keep faith and truth with thee in all things, that together we may the better love and serve our Heavenly Father and our fellow men."

"As a symbol and prophecy of oneness throughout the whole circle of our being I give (receive) this ring."

The clergyman then offered prayer, asking divine blessing on the newly-married couple.

Big Chapel Beautiful.

Never was the big chapel more beautiful than last night, when, set simply and effectively with palms and green vines, it heard the vows which bound in marriage its former mistress and the president of the Mid-Pacific board of overseers.

At a few minutes before 8 o'clock, the Kawaiahao Glee club, assembled about the piano with Miss Ethel Mills, musical instructor at the school, struck up the beautiful bridal song from "Cavalleria Rusticana."

At the same time the six little flower girls entered, two by two, from the end of the hall. Three separate nationalities, characterizing the three main races in Kawaiahao, were represented in the flower girls.

Hawaiian Girls in Lead.
Two little Hawaiian girls came first, Catherine Deering and Rozal Joseph, carrying each a basket of flowers. Behind them several paces were two Chinese girls, Yin Tai Yap and Kin Moi Maui, while behind these came Toshiko Ichinose and Suyo Sakuma, Japanese girls. Chinese and Japanese girls were dressed in their respective costumes, the Hawaiian girls wearing white. All of the girls carried baskets of white jasmine.

Miss Bosher entered on the arm of Dr. Scudder, the two walking slowly after the little flower girls up to the altar. The bride carried a bouquet of white violets tied with white silk ribbon.

Her dress was of white satin flounced with white lace, and her train was also of white satin. She wore no veil.

Dr. John L. Scudder of Los Angeles, brother of the groom, pronounced the ceremony. After his benediction a short benediction was chanted by the glee club from the music written by Capt. Henri Berger and sung at the pageant a year ago when Kawaiahao Seminary celebrated its fiftieth anniversary.

Banked With Foliage.

Decorations were especially effective in the hall. Branches of palm leaves were arranged on each side of the hall, while the platform where the altar was located was filled with foliage, thus shutting off entirely the back end of the room and making the big chapel appear smaller.

Directly over the white carpet on which the bride couple and the flower girls walked, had been arranged a hanging frame of vines closely intertwined and reaching the entire length of the room. From it were suspended small baskets of ferns.

The entrance to the hall, the main stairs, and the big dining room downstairs were likewise decorated with green foliage.

Immediately following the ceremony friends and relatives passed by the happy pair extending congratulations and good wishes.

From 8:30 o'clock to 10 o'clock the general reception was held in the hall, refreshments being served in one corner of the hall and in the big dining room downstairs, where the glee club rendered songs throughout the evening.

It is estimated that at least 500 or 600 people attended the reception, many coming in automobiles which were parked thickly about the big grounds.

Dr. and Mrs. Scudder will spend their honeymoon on the other side of the island at Kaipapa.

ASKS GOVERNOR AND ADMIRAL TO HELP WITH LIST

General Wisser Busy Selecting Guests for Places in Reviewing Stand for Big Parade

Guests who are to occupy the reviewing stand on the anniversary of the birthday of Washington, February 22, when the army on Oahu will be reviewed by officials, are to be invited by General Wisser, and the list is now being prepared. General Wisser, however, before making the list, has asked Governor Lucius E. Pinkham and Rear-admiral Clifford J. Boush to send him the names of those they think should be honored with invitations for the stand.

While it has not officially become before any authorities, the question of whether Governor Pinkham or General Wisser should send out invitations has been discussed. This was because Governor Pinkham is the highest United States official on the islands.

An invitation has been sent to the governor by General Wisser to participate in the review in the following words:

"To His Excellency, the Governor:

"I have the honor to invite you to review the annual military parade on the occasion of the celebration of the birthday of George Washington, February 22, 1916."

The invitation is signed by General Wisser.

No Navy Men In Parade.

Naval forces on Oahu are so insignificant in number that Rear-admiral Clifford J. Boush has decided not to allow any of them to take part in the review after receiving an invitation from General Wisser to send such contingent of forces under his command as he wished to march with the soldiers. Admiral Boush stated recently that the small number of naval men in line would not add to the parade and would not make a showing for themselves.

Invitations from General Wisser have also been sent to the National Guard of Hawaii and the Kamehameha cadet battalion to take part in the review.

With the usual generosity, the Oahu Railway Company will transport from Schofield Barracks without charge all men and equipment ordered into Honolulu for the week in which Washington's birthday occurs. The cost to the railroad company, it is said, is about $5000 each year the company brings the troops in without any persuasion on the part of others. The act is entirely voluntary.

Is Patriotic Custom?

That the review on Washington's birthday is a patriotic custom on Oahu and is not a Carnival feature is being strongly emphasized by army officials. If the event was a part of the Carnival the war department would not allow the expense for the review to be incurred, and the custom would be ended.

Musical plans for the parade will be considered Thursday morning, when Lieut. Lloyd R. Fredenhall, 2nd Infantry, and William F. Gaynor of Dillingham & Company, are to consult as to the number of bands, which should be in line and the placing of the bands.

Headquarters is considering the line of march which the troops will take, and camping sites for the many men who will spend the week in Honolulu during the Carnival are being searched for and considered.

WORK FOR TRIAL CONCRETE ROAD HALF MILE LONG

willing to send a man here to construct half a mile of concrete road as a sample for which the city will pay only if the road proves satisfactory, met with the hearty approval of the Ad Club members, who voted unanimously to boost such a plan if offered to Honolulu.

City Engineer George M. Collins and Engineer James T. Taylor both spoke after Bristol had finished, emphasizing the value of concrete as a road foundation. Collins thought, however, that some top dressing should be laid on such a foundation here. He suggested for this dressing a thickness of one and a half inches.

Taylor declared that concrete properly mixed and laid is as good at 50 years as it is at five years, and cited examples of concrete wearing ability in the States.

In reporting for the roads committee of the Ad Club, Albion F. Clark, chairman, recommended the establishment of a permanent foundation and the proper sort of drainage.

RALLIES FROM WOUND DEALT BY PLAYMATE

TRUST FUND FOR BABES ORPHANED BY MAUI FLOOD

Manager of Wailuku Plantation Gives Money for Four Children

When four little Spanish orphan children, who lost their parents in the lagoon valley cloudburst on Maui last week, reach maturity they will be presented with the principal and interest from a trust fund which has been established for them by Wailuku plantation, on which their fathers were employed.

This news was made public today by Senor Luis Guillen Gil, consul-general for Spain, who returned yesterday on the Mauna Kea from Hilo, after visiting Maui to see what had been done for the flood sufferers of Spanish nationality.

"Wailuku Plantation, through Manager H. B. Penhallow, has given $400 cash, or $100 for each of the four orphans," said Senor Gil this morning at his office. "The money" will be sent to me to be placed in a trust fund here. When the boy orphans are 23 years old, the age of attaining a majority, provided by Spanish law, they will be given the money, plus interest. The girls will receive their "dote" when they marry. I hope by wise investment to make the principal earn seven or eight per cent interest, so when they are ready to receive their portions they will amount perhaps to several hundred dollars."

Total Stays at Fourteen.
Senor Gil said the total number of those losing their lives by drowning in lagoon valley was 14, of whom seven were Spaniards. Cirilo Fernandez, his wife and baby, were drowned. Their three other children, as if guided by Fate's hand, were playing in a neighbor's house out of the valley. They stayed there over night, because it was raining too hard for them to go home. This saved their lives when the flood swept away their parents' house.

Juan Roman Madronal, his wife and two children also met death when the angry waters overwhelmed their house. The third child escaped drowning.

The three Fernandez orphans have been adopted by Wailuku residents. One, a little four-year-old girl, has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Cooper. Mr. Cooper is editor of the Maui News.

The second Fernandez orphan has been taken into their family by Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Whitehead. He is agent for the Singer sewing machine there. They already have two children, daughters, but have no boy, and the little two and a half year old youngster has filled that want.

The third orphan of this family has been adopted by Attorney and Mrs. Daniel H. Case.

Wants One Adopted Here.

The sole survivor of the Madronal family has been adopted by a Spanish laborer, but is to be brought here as the man is alleged not to be a proper person to have custody of the child. Senor Gil appeals to Honolulu to adopt the baby, which will otherwise be placed in an institution.

That Manager Penhallow has done everything possible to relieve the sufferings of the hundreds of persons rendered homeless by the cloudburst, was stated by Senor Gil, who said Wailuku Plantation will build new cottages for them right away, and that no more houses will be allowed to be erected in the river bottom. In the meantime, from 10 to 12 persons are living in each available house, until the new ones are ready.

Splendid relief work was done by the committee of Maui citizens, the Spanish consul said. On the committee are L. R. Mathews, chairman; J. Garcia, secretary; R. A. Wadsworth, treasurer; Clement Crowell, J. H. Kuwana, N. K. Otsuka and Dr. William Osmer. A. J. Souza, who suggested

BEGIN CONTEST OF M'CALL'S WILL: $37,000 UNDIVIDED

Hearing of a suit to contest the will of the late William McCallandless, whose estate, it is understood, is valued at about $37,000, was begun in Circuit Judge W. L. Whitney's court today. Attorneys John W. Cutcher and Leon M. Straus appeared for the proponent and Attorneys J. A. Magoon and A. H. Humphreys for the contestants. Witnesses called to testify today were Alice Matilda McCallandless, Dr. H. V. Murray and J. H. Wilson. Further hearing will be had tomorrow morning, beginning at 9 o'clock.

MAUI GUARD MAY FACE INSPECTION NEXT WEEK

As part of the annual federal inspection of the troops of the National Guard of Hawaii, General Samuel I. Johnson and Col. Charles S. Lincoln, inspector-instructor, will probably leave Saturday for Maui. The order is subject to modification.

Inspection according to orders of the war department will continue until all the troops on the islands have been reviewed.
